

During the autumn of 2010 Designactivism.net ran a survey to collect reader's views on this emerging area of design. You can read a summary of the survey results here: <http://designactivism.net/archives/317>

One of the questions was: "If a friend or colleague asked you about sources on design activism, what are the top two you would recommend?" Below is a modestly edited list of the responses. Although I didn't remove duplicates, I removed the "I don't know" replies and some of the commentary (to help anonymize the responses). Note that this was a free response question and I haven't cleaned it up (in terms of capitalization, punctuation, title treatments, etc.).

Thanks for reading,
Ann Thorpe
